

Saint Luke's Student Nurses' Association (SLSNA)

All students enrolled at Saint Luke's College are members of Saint Luke's Student Nurses' Association. The organization also serves as an avenue for student input into programs and policies of the College. SLSNA is very involved at local and state levels. Activities include a junior/senior buddy program, community service, social events such as the student/faculty picnic, education programs, and opportunities for professional development. Students are eligible for membership in the National Student Nurses' Association (NSNA) upon admission to the College.
